

Chinese Reds Reject Protests

NOTES FROM A CITY EDITOR'S DAYBOOK—A bit of information from our classified advertising department deserves a little discussion today.

A home owner, who is leaving the community for health reasons, ran an ad in this newspaper Wednesday offering his six-room home for rent.

Minutes after the newspaper hit the streets, to use the vernacular, he was deluged with 61 offers to rent the home. There's no telling how many others would have answered the ad had they seen the offer in time to make inquiry.

This is not unusual. This community is packed with families anxious to move their growing brood out of small apartments and into larger homes. It is a logical trend that bespeaks both good and bad for our community.

To get the situation in perspective, let's start with the federal housing unit here. When it was completed and accommodations were made for about 85 families, there were some predictions that it would create apartment vacancies. We knew of some apartment owners that were apprehensive, some even a bit angry.

As it turned out the housing units were swallowed up and the shortage of rental housing remained pressing.

Standard-sized apartments and rental housing still are being traded about on an ear-to-ear basis. Real estate dealers here will confirm that fact. In fact, they report a shortage of homes for sale.

A shortage of standard housing indicates that our community is sought after as a place to live. There is considerable building going on but, nevertheless, the pressure for more rental units is acute.

Earlier this spring there were strong indications that some capital would be attracted here to large-scale development of housing. The prospects have largely dissipated, because, it is reported, land was unavailable at prices conducive to relatively low-cost development. There were other reasons.

From our standpoint, our housing situation here is a major roadblock to our city's industrial growth. Reasons why the situation has not been met should be carefully analyzed by those most concerned with the problem. It may be that the administration's new housing bill provisions will spur home-building here. But it is not enough that we look to Washington for the solution. Nor should outside capital be necessary for the sound investment possibilities that exist here.

Our housing situation cries for a solution.

Dixon area residents wishing to obtain free chest X-rays may do so this afternoon by stopping at the mobile X-ray unit parked in front of the Public Service Co. The unit will be open until 5 p.m.

Friday residents may obtain X-rays at Reynolds Wire Division Plant I, where the unit will be between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., 2 p.m. and 5 p.m. On Monday, the mobile unit will be stationed in front of the wire division's plant. The X-rays are used to detect possible signs of tuberculosis and other chest diseases.

Derailment Near Nelson

NorthWestern Coal Cars Go Off Track

NELSON—(Special)—Bulldozers were called into action today to clear the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad tracks south of Nelson after 29 cars of coal were derailed. The accident, believed caused by a broken journal, happened near the small community of Hahnman, south of Van Petten, about 1:30 a. m. today.

The line was reported blocked as of noon.

Crew members of the train escaped injury in the mishap which wrecked a number of cars.

The train was the "Advance 389" northbound for Nelson on its way to Chicago. It originated in South Pekin, and railroad officials said included 160 to 170 cars.

The derailment was similar to an accident Sunday in Leaf River, where 15 cars of a Milwaukee Road freight were wrecked. One hundred and forty-one railroad workmen were forced to flee when the train piled up. The cause of the Leaf River wreck also was listed as a broken journal.

Thieves Raid Amboy Home

Thieves ransacked the Amboy home of Eugene Jenkins some time Wednesday. Loot included a shotgun, shells, a cameo ring, a locket, and two pennies, which were taken from a purse.

The incident was investigated by Lee County Sheriff John Stouffer, Chief Deputy Robert Burrs and City Policeman A. H. Meyer. Authorities said entrance to the home was gained by opening a window and cutting a screen.

Plan Next Step In Murder Probe

Socialite's Slaying Still Mystery to Law Enforcers

CLEVELAND—Cuyahoga County law officers today planned a meeting to decide their next step in the case of the brutal slaying of a Bay Village socialite.

Since July 4, when 31-year-old Marilyn Sheppard was found dead in her blood-soaked bed, police have been unable to come up with enough evidence to charge anyone with the crime. But today, the chief law enforcement officials of Cleveland and the swank suburb have a meeting scheduled with County Prosecutor Frank T. Cullitan.

"We're going to decide whether present findings justify an arrest," Cleveland Police Chief Frank W. Story said Wednesday. He said it was his personal opinion they don't. However, final decision on the filing of charges rests with the prosecutor.

The victim's husband, Dr. Samuel Sheppard, prominent 30-year-old osteopath, has been undergoing most of the police questioning—much of it bearing on his relationship with a pretty laboratory technician who used to work with him in Bay View Hospital.

The girl, Miss Susan Hayes, 24, who came here voluntarily from California to testify, Wednesday was quoted by officials as saying she and the doctor carried on a romance earlier this year, and for some time past.

Story said a session on "what was done, what was not done and what can be done," in the case was held in central police station.

"We consolidated our thinking," Story said, but no new information was brought out.

Cleveland police didn't take part in the original investigation because the slaying was not in the city proper. They entered the case recently on invitation from the suburb's City Council.

Famous Niagara Honeymoon Spot Vanishes

ROCK FALLS FROM PROSPECT POINT AT NIAGARA FALLS—A huge chunk of rock slips away from the lip of the cliff of Prospect Point, a favorite spot for honeymooners at Niagara Falls, N. Y., roaring into the yawning Niagara River gorge. An estimated 185,000 tons of rock and dirt plunged into the 170-foot deep chasm. No one was injured. The whole point had been roped off earlier in the day when deep cracks opened just upstream from the cataract. Another section of Prospect Point was about to fall when this picture was taken. U. S. Notes On Attacks Returned

State Department Says Situation Will Not Rest There

WASHINGTON (AP)—Red China has rejected by refusing even to consider twin United States protests against Communist fighter attacks on British and American planes off Hainan Island.

The State Department announced today that official word of the Red rebuff has been received from the British government which acted as intermediary. The department asserted:

"The situation will not be permitted to rest there."

Press Officer Henry Suydam, who made the statement for the department, did not disclose what further steps may be contemplated. Suydam said Ambassador Winthrop Aldrich at London reported he was informed at the British Foreign Office that the American protest had not been accepted.

Return Notes
The Chinese Foreign Office even returned the protest notes, in this case designated as "aide-memoires," to the British.

The Chinese Communists took the position that the affair of the British plane was a matter of proper concern for the British government, but that the attack on the American carrier aircraft was just what they had claimed in press statements—the result of a "violation" of Chinese territory.

A British airliner was shot down July 23 and three American citizens were lost. On July 26 two U. S. carrier planes searching the areas for survivors were attacked by two Chinese Communist aircraft. The Americans returned the fire and shot down the Red planes.

Ciucci Found Guilty Again; Gets 45 Years

CHICAGO—A 28-year-old grocer accused of slaying his wife and their three children for love of another woman, today was convicted of murder for the second time.

A Criminal Court jury returned a guilty verdict against Vincent Ciucci for the murder of his daughter, Angeline, 4, and Judge Richard B. Austin fixed his punishment at 45 years in prison.

Motions by Ciucci's counsel for a new trial and a reduction of sentence were set for hearing Aug. 4.

In an earlier trial for the murder of his wife, Anne, 27, Ciucci was convicted and sentenced to 20 years imprisonment.

Ciucci's wife and the three children were found dead—each with a bullet wound in the head—in the fire-charred Ciucci grocery and apartment on Chicago's West Side last Dec. 5.

Rocky Agrees to Meet Charles

Sept. 15 or 21 Are Dates Set in Agreement Today

NEW YORK—Rocky Marciano agreed to defend his world heavyweight boxing title against Ezzard Charles today with the fight scheduled for either New York's Yankee Stadium Sept. 15 or the Polo Grounds on Sept. 21.

Marciano defeated Charles in a fierce 15-rounder in Yankee Stadium on June 17. It was in this bout that Marciano suffered cuts over the left eye which held off the signing of the rematch until today.

For the coming fight Marciano will receive 40 per cent and Charles, 20, the same terms as for the previous encounter. Tickets again will be scaled from $5 to $40.

Jim Norris, president of the promoting International Boxing Club, said television plans are uncertain. The last fight was carried on theater TV.

Marciano came to town from Grossinger, N. Y., for an examination of the eye. Both Dr. Vincent Nardiello, Marciano's personal physician, and Dr. Alexander Schiff of the New York Athletic Commission, found the eye "completely healed" and declared the champion in fit condition.

Cohn Turned Down Offer As Consultant: McCarthy

NEW YORK—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) says Roy Cohn, a principal in the bitter Army-McCarthy controversy, has declined an offer to serve as his personal consultant.

McCarthy spoke Wednesday night at a testimonial dinner for the 27-year-old Cohn, who recently resigned as chief counsel of the Senate Permanent Subcommittee on Investigations, which is headed by McCarthy.

Turned It Down
"I asked Roy if he would serve on my personal office staff as my personal representative on the committee," McCarthy said "Roy turned it down. He said it would be like going out the front door and coming in the back door."

Cohn's resignation followed the lengthy televised subcommittee hearings in which the Army charged that Cohn used improper pressure on behalf of G. David Schine, another subcommittee aide who had been drafted.

The McCarthy side contended the Army was using Schine as a "hostage" to prevent the subcommittee from pursuing its probe of subversives in the Army.

Receive Ovations
Both McCarthy and Cohn received ovations from some 2,000

$7-a-plate dinner guests in the Hotel Astor ballroom. Sponsors of the affair said more than 6,000 ticket applications had to be turned down because of lack of space.

Cohn, responding to many addresses of praise, said he considered himself "extremely fortunate to have had the opportunity to oppose the Communist menace."

Outside the hotel, about 250 persons demonstrated against the dinner, carrying signs and chanting "Roy is out—Joe must go."

Police stationed around the hotel did not interfere.

Raps Flanders
Alfred Kohlberg, national chairman of the American Jewish League Against Communism, criticized Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.) for having introduced a resolution in the Senate to censure McCarthy.

Rabbi Benjamin Schultz presented a plaque to Cohn "in recognition of his battle for his God and country, which has inspired Americans."

Boyle Learns Insects May One Day Rule the World

By HAL BOYLE

RAPID CITY, S. D. (AP)—Did you know the camel was a pioneer settler of the American west, but left here nearly a million years ago?

That was long before either the Indian or the cowboy arrived. And today nobody can tell for sure why one branch of the camel family migrated to South America and became a llama, while another branch went to Africa and ended up carrying Arabs and posing for cigarettes.

"Why did he leave here?" asks Dr. James D. Bump. "The camel competed successfully here for 30 million years. So did the horse. But they both left the country. Why? Nobody knows."

These are the kind of problems that bother detectives in old bones such as Dr. Bump. He is director of the museum of geology at the South Dakota School of Mines and one of the nation's best known paleontologists.

To Dr. Bump the hills and eroded plateaus of the west are a great history book of America, holding more mystery than any thriller by Ellery Queen.

"I can't think of another place where we can find so many types of past life," he said. Among some 200 fossil animal forms dug up there are the saber-toothed tiger, the three-toed horse, and the ancestors of the modern camel, hog and rhinoceros.

Seeing the evidence of so many forms of life that have vanished tends to make paleontologists pretty philosophical about the fate of mankind. Most of them are reconciled to the possibility man isn't here to stay forever—any more than the dinosaur was.

Dr. Bump feels pretty sure, for example, that if man doesn't figure a way to bump off the insects they will finally bump him off.

"Shellfish ruled the world for the best part of 200 million years," he said.

"The age of the mammals has run for 100 million years. But modern man himself is quite recent—only about 50,000 to 80,000 years old.

"In every way except brainpower, man is physically inferior to many mammals."

What about those insects? "Well, insects far outnumber any other forms of life on earth," said Dr. Bump, cheerfully. "And pound for pound, insects today probably match the weight of all the mammals in the world."

"The problem is whether man can keep from going downhill long enough to make enough chemicals to curb them. But, of course, we can't say for sure the next age will belong to the insects."

"After all some people call this the Age of Man—but some call it the Age of the Atom."

Highway Messages

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—Roadside signs in series have been planted along the 180 miles of U. S. 1 in North Carolina by the State Highway Commission.

Motorists on the north-south route read 180 messages like:

"If you're over 55, you're lucky to be alive."

"It's a short hill; don't be impatient."

"Safe speed 55; social security 65."

"The late Ben Smith tried to pass here."

Motor Vehicles Commissioner Ed Scheidt said similar signs may be put on U.S. 301 and 17 if motorists take kindly to those on 1.

There's Future in Shoeing Horses, Students Maintain

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Calif. (AP)—The ancient trade of blacksmithing—seemingly out of place in this modern age—not only is more flourishing than people think, but has taken its place on a college curriculum.

The art of shoeing horses is full-time study for the leather-aproned students enrolled in California State Polytechnic College's unusual course in blacksmithing.

And the students put their learning into practice, high in the Sierra Nevada, during a two-week field trip each summer.

Mountain Laboratory After the aspiring farriers (proper name for horseshoers) have finished their 12-week course on the college campus, they head for the mountains to service the five or six privately-owned pack horse outfits that rent out their animals to camping parties. The students are paid a nominal fee for making the rounds of these outfits.

Ralph Hoover, a young instructor at Cal Poly's horseshoeing laboratories, feels the horseshoeing business is not going to die out, even though the horse and mule population of the country is declining. And he's insistent about the proper methods of teaching a course in horseshoeing.

"It's useless to just read about how to shoe horses," Hoover says. "There's got to be many practice hoofs and shoes and then live horses and field trips, before the young man can really get the feel of the work."

And that's what the Cal Poly horseshoers do. On the campus, they work eight hours a day, five days a week, at the business of shoeing, using mechanical stands that hold the practice legs and hoofs at the correct angle. A large deep freeze contains the horses' legs purchased from a nearby slaughter house.

And when they're "on location"—7,000 feet up in the Sierra—they spread their tools, untie their sacks of coke for the fires, assemble their portable forges, unload the 100-pound kegs of horseshoes, and begin business.

Housed at the pack station employing them, the students rough it for two weeks, bathing in chilly mountain streams and resting in sleeping bags. And the pack station owners have come to depend on the student farriers. The pack animals move over narrow ledges, steep declines and rough passes that put the shoes to a good test. The Cal Poly men take as much care in fitting a horse's shoe as a salesman does in fitting a child's.

Future Prospects

Most of the horseshoe graduates never make blacksmithing their entire livelihood, but many occasionally work in show rings, race tracks, and roping arenas. Two Cal Poly graduates work on the harness track circuit, and one is secretary of a horseshoers' union.

What kind of students does the course attract?

"Well, we expect variety in a school of this kind," Hoover says. "One year two taxi drivers enrolled. Once we even had a bank teller."

The Roman Coliseum, the ruined skeleton of which still stands, was built between 72 and 80 A.D.

Illinois Residents Live Longer Than U.S. Average

But Greater Percentage of Aged in Mental Hospitals

SPRINGFIELD —(Special)— Illinois residents are living longer than people in the country as a whole but in the past 23 years the number of persons 65 years of age or older admitted to Illinois mental hospitals has increased more than four times while the number in this age group in the general population has risen only two and one-half times.

These statistics are revealed in the first of a three-part research study dealing with aging trends and the mentally ill.

The study was prepared by Dr. Otto L. Bettag, director of the state Department of Public Welfare and three other men in the department. Dr. David Sligh, superintendent of Mental Health Centers, Philip W. Weng, supervisor of Research and Statistics, and William H. Sorenson, research assistant.

Two More Phases
The other two phases will cover the areas of study on the mentally deficient and chronic patients. Gov. William G. Stratton used material from the study as a basis of discussion of this general problem at the recent Governor's Conference.

Dr. Sligh presented the material in the first phase of the study at the Third International Gerontological Congress at London.

The study shows that 4.6 per cent of the state's population and 4.7 per cent of the national population was 65 or over in 1920. By 1950, 8.7 per cent of the state population was in this age group while for the nation as a whole the figure was only 8.2 per cent.

However, in the period from 1922 to 1950, the number of persons 65 or over who were admitted to Illinois mental hospitals rose from 634 to 2,738, or more than four times. The general population in the same age group increased from 297,647 to 754,301, or about two and one-half times.

Now 30 Per Cent

In 1922, according to the study, 13.2 per cent of the first admissions to mental hospitals were 65 or over. In 1953, this figure had risen to 30 per cent.

Noting the trend, the report finds that about 34,000 persons 65 years or more will be in the institutions in the year 2000. This will be about 67 per cent of the total population of the institutions and the majority of the 34,000 will be chronic patients, according to the report.

In the past, the report said, a greater proportion of the first admissions 65 years or older has been made. But, it continued, "the trends noted indicate that in future years we may expect that the females admitted, of this age, will be equal in number to the males."

The report also pointed out that the chronic mental patient is now living longer. "Within our hospitals new problems are being created as a result of this aging of the chronic mental patient," the report said.

Cost Estimated

"The expected cost for the care and treatment of the aged patients, based upon the present operating expense per capita, will by the year 2000 be approximately $50 million per year," the report said.

"The considerable increase in cost is but one of the problems to be found in the increasing resident patient population of the department's mental hospitals. The demand for trained personnel will increase; the need for expansion of treatment and rehabilitation facilities will become ever more apparent, and more bed space will be occupied by the chronically ill patients, who are living longer."

Commenting on the report, Dr. Bettag stated "this first part of the research study, has highlighted the urgency for extensive research and improved treatment of the mentally ill. In order to reverse this trend of ever-increasing patient population in the state's mental hospitals."

Misplaced Wedding

DES MOINES — Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Filby attended a wedding at Grace Methodist Church. They didn't recognize any of those attending and when the bride turned around after the ceremony, they didn't know her, either.

Back home, the Filbys checked the wedding invitation. It said the ceremony would be in Grace Methodist Church—but at Cedar Falls, Iowa, instead of Des Moines.

A Firm Defense Line

In all talk of a Southeast Asian alliance to check communism, there is implicit the idea of a firm defense line. Until now, however, there has been no clear indication where such a barrier might be fixed.

It was extremely heartening, therefore, to learn that plans are afoot to strengthen doughty little Thailand militarily. Recent staff talks in Washington concerned a new military aid program for that country.

Thailand's eastern frontier stretches along the west borders of the Indo-Chinese states of Laos and Cambodia. In the present state of Communist military strength in Indo-China, Thailand has grave reason for worry.

So, obviously, does the whole free world. And Thailand is a sensible place to attempt to build a stout obstacle to the further southward flow of communism.

Four or five years back, observers touring Asia often reported the government of Thailand "weak and willowy." The plain expectation was that at the first sign of trouble, Bangkok would fold. But the indications were wrong.

When the Korean war broke out and a United Nations force was sent to stem the Red attack, tiny Thailand amazed most people by committing what was, for a nation its size a fairly substantial army unit.

In so doing, Bangkok shamed much larger and more powerful countries. Moreover, the Thais consistently maintained a stout public attitude of resistance to communism.

None of this has changed. With the Reds breathing down their necks, they are calling for action in the UN to help preserve peace in their land. Russia has vetoed a plan for a UN observation team, but that does not alter the fact that Thailand still is standing up bravely to the Reds.

The performance resembles in spirit that given by the Finns when the Russian colossus descended on them in the early stages of World War II. We say "in spirit" because Thailand has not yet been tested in battle on its own soil.

If the free nations are resolute, it may not have to be. Yet there seems some hope that, properly equipped, the people of Thailand would give a good account of themselves in combat. They have confounded everyone with their show of defiance against an enemy close at hand.

Not much has been said so far about the military feasibility of a defense line drawn at or near the Thailand border.

Let us hope it is practical. For Thailand's people behave as though their land was the natural residence of freedom. And such a land is the place to make a fight if it comes to that.

NEW YORK—Jonathan Daniels is a peculiar sort of journalist. When I wrote to inquire about various matters, all I got from him was "I don't explain my ethics as a journalist but only try to live up to them." Of course it is not his duty to compose a statement for anyone who happens to inquire. But Jonathan is a prominent figure in both our journalism and our politics and frankly a prophet of revolution which never was proclaimed to be a revolution until great changes had been wrought.

In his Truman biography, "Man of Independence," he told us, and for the first time, that Max Lowenthal, the lawyer who blasted the FBI, had drawn a bead on Truman when Truman was just a hick in the Senate, steered him to Louis D. Brandeis for radical indoctrination, and ultimately put him over for seven of the most fateful years of our national existence.

Now, in another book called "The End of Innocence," Daniels tells us that in 1910, just three years before the first Wilson inauguration, Brandeis wrote, "If only there were a Democratic party, what havoc could be wrought!"

Commenting on this, Daniels wrote that neither William Jennings Bryan nor Josephus Daniels would have used the word "havoc" when they landed in Washington for the inaugural and to take office in 1913. "Their purposes, like their appearances, were benign," he wrote. "The Democratic party, however, was not as simple as its celebrating mood. There were men in the party who persuaded Wilson that he could not afford to name so radical a man as Brandeis as secretary of commerce."

Col. E. M. House, a mysterious character, is depicted as an evil, sinister force. Apparently he was. But why has it taken this man who knew the score then or learned it not long afterward, all these years to let the American people in on the secrets of this dark phase of our history?

Daniels' "education" was a continuing process, but surely the people for whom he professes vast and juicy affection and whose judgement he trusts with patronizing ostentation, deserved to know what was being done to them. For all I know to the contrary, neither Daniels, father nor son, disclosed to the people many facts which were not a credit to Wilson, F. D. Roosevelt or Truman, which, being disclosed, might have made the people reject these supermen and their self-acknowledged apostles.

Daniels speaks of Colonel House as a small man "with strange, cat-like eyes, a broad forehead and a thin face." And he confirms for the first time that House actually was the author of a weird and, in part, prophetic novel, called "Philip Dru: Administrator." This was a design for total dictatorship. It has been angrily damned for years as a subtle attempt to create bitterness against the Jews. But the actual authorship has been clouded and claims that House invented the political design and wrote the book have been denied. Now, one of the most intimate Democrats of the era, blandly tells us that House "had written a book called 'Philip Dru: Administrator,' about an American president who took over and redesigned government in the United States. He was fascinated with power but approached it almost with the arts of seduction. He sometimes carried an automatic pistol in his pocket. He was an intimate man, even when he was cutting a throat."

For background, we are told only that this American Rasputin, as sinister as Harry Hopkins, was the son of an Englishman who never held any public office but, having large land holdings in Texas, could indulge an interest in politics.

Jonathan Daniels' own principles are bespoken by an exultant observation that the income tax had doomed the mansions of the rich.

A great American of the same period died of a heart attack a few days ago. This was Bennett Champ Clark, of the court of appeals for the District of Columbia. He was the son of Champ Clark, who was elected out of the Democratic nomination by Bryan, Josephus Daniels and Wilson in 1912, the year the country started down the road to three ghastly wars always under pious banners of holy men preaching peace.

Judge Clark fought for his father in Baltimore and later fought at the head of an infantry regiment in France. About the same time, Theodore Roosevelt remarked that not one son of any member of the Wilson cabinet was fighting the enemy in France.

Had Champ Clark been nominated he would have been elected over Taft and Roosevelt and the United States would have stayed out of the first world war.

Jonathan Daniels reveals a smug and supercilious condescension toward the common man.

So They Say

The recessionary trend which began last year has been stopped. Economic developments have proven conclusively the error of prophecies of gloom and doom emanating from many quarters only a few weeks ago.

—Rep. Jesse P. Wolcott (R., Mich.)

I have created a hope and trust in the country (France). It is now my duty to honor this hope and trust.

—French Premier Mendes-France

It would be an absurdity of history and of politics if France, by allowing EDC to fail, should be indirectly responsible for the creation of the German national army.

—West German Chancellor Adenauer

He (Author Leo Tolstoy) never reread "War and Peace," and when he heard us reading it aloud one day, he didn't even recognize it.

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Exclusively Yours: Marlon Brando, Hollywood gagsters are saying, is worrying his psychiatrist because he's playing Napoleon in "Desiree." But the idea isn't funny to Marlon, who snarled a "No comment" when I asked him if he'd heard the line, inspired by headlines when a psychiatrist said he was too ill to work in "The Egyptian."

Fox sued Brando in the resulting legal row but the suit was dropped when he agreed to comb down his hair and wear a putty nose piece as the French emperor.

The star, now in good spirits, may be ducking questions about his couch sessions and his row with Fox, but he isn't avoiding comment about "fifth-rate, withered, caustic remarks made about me in Hollywood by people who should be pitied."

"It doesn't bother me, though," he confided. "In the long run it really doesn't matter. Intelligent people don't believe all the nonsense about me. People who believe it I ignore."

Patricia Wymore is being zip-lipped in Rome about the big nitery and theater tour she begins in August in the U. S. It could be she's worried that Nora Haynes and Lili Damita, who were Mrs. Erroll Flynn's before her, could attach her salary for Erroll's back alimony and child support.

Product-hungry movie studios tried to snag a film version of "Porgy and Bess," shot as a stage play, during the touring company's Los Angeles engagement.

But the idea was nixed by the Gershwin estate and Robert Breen, director and coproducer. He'll film "Porgy" next spring with the same cast but in standard movie style.

Beethoven for Japan

TOKYO (AP)—The Japanese love Beethoven.

The Tokyo Metropolitan Theater asked its 6,674 subscribers to send in their favorites for a series of request programs.

It was Beethoven's Seventh symphony, Beethoven's Fifth and Beethoven's Sixth in one, two, three, order.

The Doctor Says:

Don't Go Swimming for at Least an Hour After Eating

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D.

Swimming for pleasure (or to get cooled off) is indulged in by billions. It is a good and healthful sport.

If there is no physical reason to avoid it, such as a bad heart, if the water is not too cold, and if a few sensible precautions are taken, it is about as good a summer sport as we have.

It is never wise to swim alone. Even a strong and experienced swimmer can develop muscular cramps, become tangled in sunken obstacles or otherwise get into trouble. Some drownings come from this kind of carelessness because no one is around to help or call for aid.

Drownings also come from swimming in unsupervised areas whether they are ponds, rivers, lakes or the ocean. In many of these the water is deeper or colder than expected and they often have submerged rocks, step-offs, or other hazards.

Tides may be stronger than swimmers. Diving in such places is particularly dangerous. Far too many reckless youngsters have broken their necks by diving, perhaps on a bet, into some place which they thought was deep but turned out to be shallow. Allergy to cold is probably responsible for some drownings too.

It is somewhat alarming how many people, particularly youngsters, seem to ignore the old rule concerning the danger of swimming after eating. When a person eats, considerable amounts of body blood gathers around the stomach to aid in digestion and is therefore not available to the muscles used in swimming or to keep the body warm.

Of course, a lot of people get away with this hazardous practice but cramps are much more likely immediately after eating, and if they occur in deep water drowning is by no means unlikely.

It should be a hard and fast rule not to go swimming for at least an hour after eating and longer if the meal has been a heavy one.

One experienced swimmer who has done guard duty told me that an important cause of drowning is alarm or excitement on the part of the swimmer who gets into a little trouble.

The fear exhausts the swimmer and he is less likely to use his head in getting out of the difficulty. This is a good point. It never helps to get panicky when in trouble.

It is a rare summer Sunday or holiday which passes without one or more unfortunate deaths from drowning. And the worst of it is that these deaths are so unnecessary; just a little more care and they could have been prevented.

You Can Use Socially Tip Actor Gave His Daughter

When screen actor Robert Montgomery learned his daughter was determined to become an actress he gave her one bit of advice, according to a recent magazine article.

The advice was this: "Remember that every time you walk out on the stage you must bring something with you. You can't make an entrance empty-handed. You've got to be carrying some little thing that wasn't there before."

Any woman could use that bit of advice to advantage. For the woman who enters a room timidly or with about as much animation as a talking doll, enters the room empty-handed and in a moment is completely overlooked.

While the woman who enters with gaiety, or easy friendliness or an amusing bit of news or a sparkling enthusiasm enters with a gift in her hand.

She has an immediate effect on the people in the room, whether they are strangers, friends or her own family.

Next time you go to a party, visit a sick friend, welcome your family home or open the front door to guests, make sure you have something with you that you can offer others. It will make them happy or interested or amused or just plain pleased with themselves.

THEY DON'T KNOW WHY Those who feel dull and drab when in the company of others and who can't figure out why they find it so difficult to make friends are probably just well-meaning people who haven't realized the importance of never meeting other empty-handed.

They scarcely make their presence felt, simply because they haven't bothered to take something with them; wherever they go—something to make life a little brighter or more interesting for others.

Barbs

By HAL COCHRAN
Being interested picks up a lot more friends than trying to be interesting.

We've seen some outlandishly fancy belts that should be used just below where teenage youths are wearing them.

We'd have cleaner public parks if the theory of so many picnickers wasn't that every little bit helps.

You'd be surprised if you knew how many couples get along fine because the wife has a will of their own.

Before all the automatic gadgets were added to autos most teenage youths satirized shifting for themselves as soon as the old gent let them use the car.

Defense Question

DETROIT (AP)—Secretary of Defense C. E. Wilson is advocating "disarmament."

For years the Ayrshire cattle that have roamed Wilson's celebrated Windrow Farm have been recognized by their long, graceful up-swept horns.

But now 11 natural hornless Ayrshires, purchased from Green-range Farm in Vermont, can be seen at Windrow. The Wilson purchase is the largest single importation of the hornless breed in Michigan.

Trio Appears In Lanark Show

Three popular and talented Dixonites, Misses Donna Streibich and Vera Heckman and Mrs. Joan Treassey will present several trio numbers on the Dixonaires' program for the Lanark Old Settlers' Day Festival, July 30.

Well known in Dixon musical circles, the three had the leading roles in this year's original musical production, "Tennessee Journey", presented in late February by the Dixonaires.

Should perspiration stain a washable garment, wash in hot suds, rinse and then bleach in the sun. If this doesn't remove the stain, then rinse again, adding hydrogen peroxide to the water.

Important Is Care For Your Broiler

Your broiler will be easy to clean if you grease the rack with vegetable oil or shortening before using it. Also take the broiler pan from the range as soon as you finish broiling so that grease and food will not burn on.

Virginia Galtile of the home management staff of the University of Illinois suggests that you pour off all the drippings as soon as you've finished broiling. Then fill the pan with hot water and add a soap powder or detergent to cut the grease.

If food has burned on, use steel wool pads containing soap if your broiler is aluminum or stainless steel. If the broiler is made of enamel, use a mild cleaning powder because the coarse scouring will damage the enamel.

Not all broiling units are designed as a part of the oven, but if yours is, it's a good idea to remove the broiler pan when using the oven. This will prevent interference with heat circulation and

Cologne Cools Traveler

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

If you're about to start on an auto trip you've mapped out so carefully, it's a wise idea to include a bottle of spray cologne in your cosmetic case.

A light, fragrant cologne is one of the best cooling aids you could bring along with you to combat the heat while you're on the road. And it's a time-saver for the girl who wants to reach her destination on schedule. Spraying on a fine mist of cologne at frequent intervals will refresh you completely and cut your "stopping off" time in half.

Make certain your cologne bottle is shatterproof and leakproof, too. You certainly don't want to risk running the other grooming aids in your case with a bottle of cologne that may break during the trip. One firm makes a spray cologne that comes in a plastic-coated container, with a handy push button will also prevent cracking of the enamel or warping of the metal pan.

To keep cool during her auto trip, this girl uses a spray cologne (above). It's permanently chilled for a fragrantly refreshing effect.

atomizer top. Just the slightest touch will release a spray of fragrance to your wrists, arms, neck and temples.

This cologne is perfect for summer travel in that it is permanently chilled. When you arrive at your destination, you won't have to put it in the refrigerator. It will be just as ice-cold as the first day of the trip. Using your spray cologne on the return trip, too, will have a wonderful cool effect. This portable "air-conditioner" will keep you looking flower-fresh all day.

Let Breakfast Be Interesting Meal of Family

Tempt your family into eating breakfast. Breakfast is no time to preach nutrition, but a time to practice it.

Miss Hattie Bette, nutrition specialist of the University of Illinois, says to try to keep the basic breakfast pattern in mind when preparing breakfast. It always includes fruit in some form, cereal or bread, and a beverage, such as coffee, plus milk. This pattern can be easily elaborated at any time with protein-rich foods, such as eggs, meats, cheese and fish.

Even if the pattern is set, you can provide lots of variety in serving it. Substitute fresh or stewed fruit occasionally for fruit juice. And with the many ready-to-eat and cooked cereals, it's no trick at all to have variety in this course. Stewed or fresh fruit often blends in well with the flavor of cereals.

And just think of the many different dishes you can prepare from eggs. Fried and scrambled eggs are favorites of most people, but for variety serve French toast, omelets filled with jelly or cheese, poached eggs or eggs cocotte once in a while. Did you ever try scrambled eggs with cream cheese softened with milk?

Meats also offer a wide selection. You have bacon, ham, sausages, Canadian bacon and ribbed beef from which to choose. Or you might give fish a try. Finnan haddock, codfish cakes or other smoked fish are delicious for breakfast.

Miss Bette has one more suggestion for making your family enjoy breakfast: If your children can't eat right away, let them play for half an hour before calling them to the table. Moderate exercise before breakfast will increase the appetite of any one.

Proposes Plan to Weigh 'Good, Evil' of McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-N.J.) proposed today that a committee of six senators be named to investigate and report on "the alleged good or evil of so-called McCarthyism."
Smith offered a formal resolution to the Senate.
This puts it in position to be considered as a possible substitute for a motion of censure of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) being pressed by Sen. Flanders (R-Vt.) and due for consideration Friday.
Smith read his resolution to the Senate and served notice that he will offer it as a substitute when Flanders' resolution comes up.
Smith proposed that the committee consist of three Republicans, to be appointed by the Senate Republican Policy Committee, and three Democrats, to be appointed by the Senate Democratic Policy Committee. The group would be instructed to report to the Senate by Feb. 1 of next year.
Republican Leader Knowland (Calif.) told reporters that the Senate definitely will consider the Flanders resolution Friday.
Knowland refused to disclose his tactics although he had said earlier he would move to table the Flanders motion. Such a motion would cut off debate, if passed.
Top level Republicans and Democrats planned strategy meetings during the day on Flanders' move.

Highway Load Limit Study Made by County Officials

The road and bridge committee of the Lee County Board of Supervisors is expected to issue a recommendation regarding county truck load limits when the supervisors hold their monthly meeting Thursday.
The recommendation will arise from a committee spot-check Tuesday of load-limit policies in DeKalb, Ogle, Whiteside and Stephenson Counties.
According to Fred Leake, Jr., Lee County Highway Supervisor, authorities in Ogle, Stephenson, and DeKalb counties reported that they impose no load limits on trucks passing through their counties. In Whiteside County, the load limit was reported to be the same as Lee County, eight tons.
Conduct Interviews
The officials in Ogle, DeKalb, and

Whiteside Counties were interviewed personally. Stephenson County authorities were contacted by phone. County officials in which no load limits are imposed said their roads are "holding up very well," Leake reported.

The check on neighboring county load limits was made as the result of a suggestion by Elmer Miller at the July meeting of the supervisors. Miller, a road and bridge committee member, opined that Lee County ought to hike the load limit of double and tandem-axle trucks to 12 tons.
Leake quoted a Maryland study, made in 1950, which said that double and tandem-axle trucks carrying the same loads as single-axle trucks cause a similar amount of wear on the highways.
Assistant County Clerk Bruce Dunlap reported that claims to be presented to the board for payment at Thursday's meeting must be filed in the office of County Clerk Sterling D. Schrock before noon Tuesday.

President Will Address World Church Council

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower today accepted an invitation to address a meeting of the World Council of Churches at Northwestern University in Evanston, Ill., Aug. 19. He also will receive an honorary doctor of laws degree from the school.
The President will speak at a council session in the late afternoon and receive the degree immediately afterward at a campus ceremony.
Earlier the same day, as announced previously, the President will be the principal speaker at a Republican Day celebration at the Illinois State Fair in Springfield, Ill.

Transient Sent To State Farm

Robert Holman, 39, who gave his address as Manteno, and said that he was an Alaskan fisherman, was sentenced to six months in the state prison farm at Joliet on a vagrancy charge Wednesday by Justice of the Peace Lawrence Boos.

Holman was arrested at First Street and Hennepin Avenue yesterday by Dixon Traffic Officer Frank Chapman. Police had arrested the man about 10 days ago and told him to leave town. Area grocers have reportedly complained that Holman was pilfering stock at their stores. No theft charges were pressed against Holman.
At the time of his arrest Holman was equipped with two pocket books, a Bible, one can of sardines, a bar of soap, a razor and case and toothache medicine.

Rhee's Plea Gets Chilly Reception

WASHINGTON (AP)—Syngman Rhee neared the end of his White House talks today after winning personal acclaim but a cool reception for his plea to Congress for war against Red China now.
After laying a wreath at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier, the South Korean President was to have his fourth and perhaps last session with President Eisenhower since arriving in Washington Monday.

No Word
So far neither American nor Korean sources have given out word on how the conferences are progressing. Rhee is said to seek more military and economic help for his war-ravaged country and U. S. backing of his ambition to unify it by driving the Communists out of North Korea. Eisenhower reportedly wants Rhee to go easy on his unite-Korea-by-force plans and to adopt a more friendly policy toward neighboring Japan. A joint statement is expected at the end of the talks.

The White House did not make known Eisenhower's views Wednesday on the South Korean's fighting talk before a joint session of Congress, although the speech conflicted with Eisenhower's previously stated views against the concept of a preventive war.

Addressing senators and congressmen in a soft, emotion-packed voice, the 79-year-old Asian patriot urged that American warships blockade China, that U. S. Air Force bombers hit its productive centers and that an Asian anti-Communist army of two million South Koreans and Chinese Nationalists — equipped by the United States — strike out and destroy the Red regime. He also declared that the one-year-old Korean armistice should be scrapped.

"Unless we win China back," he declared "an ultimate victory for the free world is unthinkable."

Two Die, 13 Hurt in Blast

HARTFORD CITY, Ind. (AP)—Two persons were killed and two others were near death today after an explosion that demolished a downtown business building Wednesday. Eleven other persons also were hurt.

Albert Creek, 66, of near Trenton, Ind., a painter and contractor, and William Keely, 27, Hartford City, were killed in the blast. Creek's body was found within a few minutes, but Keely's body was not found until six hours after the explosion.

Critically injured are Nathan Johnson, 72, and Byron Blakely, about 60. They were pinned in the wreckage for more than 3 1/2 hours before being rescued.

Firemen attributed the blast to a gas leak in a furnace, but a spokesman for the local gas company said he was not sure it was a gas explosion. Damage to the building was estimated unofficially at $45,000.

Dixon Youth Hurts Hip in Accident

Tax Bill Heads For Ike's Desk

Senate Expected to Okay Revision Measure Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower's huge tax revision bill, which he terms the cornerstone of his 1954 domestic program, today may clear its final congressional hurdle.

The Senate planned to take up the 1,600-page measure, a complete overhaul of the nation's tax laws, sometime during the afternoon barring a last-minute program change.

Senate Republican leaders predicted confidently they had the votes to send the compromise bill to the President's desk, in the face of a last-chance battle by some Democrats to knock out of the bill a controversial tax cut on dividends to stockholders.

Their chances of success appeared small since Sen. George (D-Ga.), top Democratic member of the Senate Finance Committee, was ready to go along with the compromise bill. He said the good things in it outweighed the bad.

The House passed the bill, a compromise of separate Senate and House versions, by a 316-77 vote Wednesday. Democrats there lost 227-169 in an attempt to knock out the dividend tax relief.

Thorne Died Of Pneumonia, Say Experts

CHICAGO (AP)—Montgomery Ward Thorne, young heir to a mail order fortune, died of acute bronchial pneumonia, a panel of four pathologists reported today.

The report was prepared for a coroner's jury which has been investigating the puzzling death of 20-year-old Thorne. Thorne was found dead June 19 in a $75-a-month flat in the Bohemian section of the Near North Side.

Dr. Jerry Kearns, the coroner's pathologist and a member of the panel of experts, was asked what he and others had determined about the cause of Thorne's death. Dr. Kearns replied:

"It is our opinion, based on the anatomical examination, that the cause of death of Montgomery Ward Thorne was the result of extensive bilateral acute bronchial pneumonia."

Dr. Kearns said the chest disorder was complicated by a stomach condition.

Others had attributed Thorne's death to a combination of alcohol and drugs, possibly administered by another person.

Dr. Kearns said microscopic examination of the lungs showed "a collection of inflammatory cells and thickening of the muscles in the air spaces of both lungs." He added:

"We found some homogenous material and, significantly, some pus cells within the air spaces of the lungs. Tissues were widened and the capillaries contained some inflammatory cells."

Dixon Resident Files for Divorce

Chicagoan Shot During Racial Feud

CHICAGO (AP)—Seven squad cars and 80 policemen patrolled a West Side neighborhood today to prevent renewal of a disturbance in which three persons were injured Wednesday night.

Police estimated 1,500 took part in the disturbance at Taylor St. and Racine Ave. in which Larry Sampson, 18, 1288 Roosevelt Rd., was shot in the right calf; Garcia Cruz, 19, 906 S. Racine Ave., received head injuries including a possible skull fracture, and Michael Venezia, 50, 1017 S. Racine Ave., received minor head cuts.

Racial Outbreak
Lt. Harry O'Donnell of Maxwell Street police said it apparently was an outbreak of racial feeling that has been brewing since two Puerto Rican families moved into the predominantly Italian neighborhood.

O'Donnell identified them as Guillerio Roman, 36; and three Cruz brothers, Francisco, 26; Santos, 16; and Florencio, 27. No charges were filed immediately, but the lieutenant said he learned Francisco Cruz fired the shot which struck Sampson.

Refuge In Auto
Lt. O'Donnell said the crowd gathered and became menacing after the shot, and when police arrived the Cruz brother had taken refuge in an automobile which the mob was attempting to overturn.

The police officer said policemen pushed the automobile to the station with one of the Puerto Ricans in it to prevent his seizure by angry members of the mob. Forty-eight squads of policemen were sent to the area to control the crowd.

Dixon Man Sues Insurance Firm

Suit for payment of $296.30 in hospital expenses was filed against an insurance firm Monday by a Dixon man in the office of Lee County Circuit Clerk John O. Shaulis.

Plaintiff in the case is Almond E. Morrison, 511 Sixth St., who is asking that the Acme Life Insurance Company, Springfield, be ordered to pay his expenses as the result of an operation he underwent in October, 1953.

Morrison alleges he paid all premiums on his policy from May 23, 1953, to January 23, 1954. The suit charges the company has refused to pay his medical and surgical expenses.

Runaway Girl Captured; Refuses Foster Parents

'My Mother Paws Me Like A Pig,' She Tells Cops

CHICAGO (U)—A 15-year-old girl who ran away from her foster parents' suburban Evanston home has refused pleas to return home "and forget about the whole thing," saying "My mother paws me like a pig."

Prudence Platt, adopted by the Henry Platts when she was 2 months old, was picked up by police on Chicago's South Side Wednesday. She had been listed as missing since Saturday night.

Prudence at first denied her true identity with a story so convincing that her father, a coal company executive, confronting her face-to-face, was uncertain she was his daughter.

Father Fuzzled

The pretty, brown-haired girl claimed she was Roberta "Billy" Heir, 17, of Wayne, Mich.

Confronted by her father, she said: "I'm not your daughter, I don't even know you."

Platt hesitated, then called his wife. Mrs. Platt identified her.

"All right," said Prudence, "they're my parents, but I don't want any part of them."

Mrs. Platt said Prudence was adopted from an Evanston foundling home and has known of her adoption since she was old enough to understand.

Prudence, a student at Evanston Township High School, left home Saturday to go to a movie with a boy friend. However, she changed her mind and went to a party at the suburban Skokie lagoon. Police said beer was served at the party which lasted all night.

Tells Story

Leonard Wennlund, 19, told police he joined the party Sunday morning. He said the girl asked him to "hide" her. That night, Wennlund said she accompanied him to Fort Campbell, Ky., where he drove his brother, Donald, 21, an Army private on leave.

Wennlund said he returned Monday and let the girl off on the South Side after giving her a quarter to make a telephone call.

Police said Wennlund will be charged with contributing to the delinquency of the girl.

Prudence told police she spent Tuesday night in a hotel but refused to name the hotel.

As the girl sat with a leg draped over a chair in the police station, Mrs. Platt, weeping, said "I don't know why she's doing this to us."

Refuses Plea

She pleaded with the girl "to go home and forget the whole thing."

But Prudence would have none of it saying "My mother paws me like a pig. I don't want to go back to them. I don't want any part of either of them."

The family then agreed to let the girl stay with relatives in Chicago and Birmingham, Mich., for the next few weeks. Prudence said she would return home after that time. Names of the relatives were withheld.

Platt said he would provide psychiatric and medical care for the girl.

Commons Angry Over Egypt Deal

Believe Churchill Can Weather Serious Storm

LONDON (U)—A serious Conservative party rift over Britain's Suez Canal Zone pact with Egypt, handed the Laborite opposition a tempting chance today to force the resignation of Prime Minister Churchill. It was doubtful the Socialists would seize the chance.

The test comes in a House of Commons vote tonight on Churchill's motion demanding Parliament's approval of the agreement to pull Britain's 83,000 troops out of the strategic Canal Zone.

Conservatives Rebel

A group of 40 rebellious Conservatives, angered at seeing another bit of Britain's dwindling empire crumble away, have served notice they will vote against the government.

With only a nominal Conservative majority of 20 votes in the 625-member House, Churchill thus was in the uncomfortable position of having to depend on his Socialist opponents for the support necessary to put his policy across.

The ticklish situation in Commons was one of several troubles currently plaguing the old warrior who has yet shown no inclination to heed the urging of his wife and doctors that he retire.

Believe Churchill Safe

Most observers thought the Socialists could not vote Churchill out. The official policy of the Labor party has long been in favor of pulling British troops out of the Canal Zone.

Themselves badly split between the moderate followers of former Prime Minister Clement Attlee and the leftist rebels led by Aneurin

Bevan, the Laborites also would run the risk of a sound trouncing in the general election which would follow a government fall.

Sergeant Cleared of Brutality

FT. DIX, N. J. (U)—A wiry, one-eyed non-commissioned officer with six years of Army service behind him Wednesday was cleared of charges that he kept 225 recruits at bone-taut attention for an hour in 92-degree heat.

Sgt. 1/c Richard J. Witbeck, 24, of Wellington, Ohio, breathed a sigh of relief as a three-man, special court-martial board of three of his superior officers acquitted him after deliberating 40 minutes.

"I feel very good," Witbeck said outside the pine-paneled hearing room. "I'm glad it's all over."

Wipes Slate Clean

The verdict thus wiped clean the slates of the two principals brought up on charges as a result of the June 21 punishment formation during which men were said to have passed out in the broiling sun, been revived with pails of water and forced back into line.

First Lt. Robert S. Morgan, 28, of Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Witbeck's immediate superior and commander of Company "L," 272 Infantry Regiment, which stood the formation, was cleared of "dereliction of duty" charges last Friday.

Witbeck, who wears a patch over his left eye, lost in a training mishap while on occupation duty in Austria, pleaded innocent to allegations of maltreatment of personnel. He did not take the stand in his own defense and did not exercise his right to have other enlisted men sit on the court.

Acted on Orders

His counsel, Capt. Norman Tupper of Winter Park, Fla., contended that Witbeck merely acted on orders of his superiors.

Tupper made light of the trainees' ordeal of standing at attention, saying, "I've done it many times . . . I've seen men passing out all around me."

Pvt. William Brooks, 20, of Hempstead, N. Y., testified he fainted twice while on the formation. He said the first time he was revived by water in the face and the second time by smelling salts administered by Witbeck.

Asked if he thought he was maltreated by Witbeck, Brooks replied, "No, sir."

Traffic Deaths Are Down 6%, Council Claims

CHICAGO (U)—Traffic deaths are down six per cent from last year for the first six months of 1954, the National Safety Council said today.

The Council said 16,300 had died in traffic accidents in the first six months of this year. In 1953, 17,250 died during the same period.

June was the sixth consecutive month to record fewer traffic deaths than the corresponding month of 1953. The June toll was 2,850, the lowest death total for any June since 1950. There were 3,100 fatalities in June last year.

DOLLAR DAYS ARE HAPPY DAYS

at HANK HENRY'S

We have fun getting ready for Dollar Days. When we're all set and feel we resemble a "Maxwell Street Shop," we go home and try to visualize what the store will look like 30 minutes after it's opened in the morning. If it looks like the bargain basement of a big Chicago store about 3 p.m. some afternoon, we're having a good Dollar Day. If after one hour we have a neat looking store, Dollar Day is a flop. We like the mussed-up feeling for these two day days, for then we know we've offered you real money-saving values on items you want!

Niagara Falls Has New Look

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. (U)—The face of the American Falls, its thundering beauty imprinted on the memories of millions of honeymooners, wore a new look today.

The change in the American portion of the great cataract took place Wednesday with the collapse into the Niagara River gorge of an estimated 185,000 tons of rock. Carried from the top of the 170-foot chasm was most of the well-known observation area—Prospect Point—and a huge pie-shaped chunk of the American Falls itself.

It was the largest break-off at the falls since Jan. 17, 1931.

Engineers for the Niagara Frontier State Parks Commission estimated the size of the rockfall as 400 feet long from the lip of the gorge, 50 feet wide and 150 feet deep. An estimated 200 feet of the falls crestline crashed to a point 70 feet down the face.

Throughout the day park officials had cast uneasy eyes on some widening fissures that snaked back onto Prospect Point from the river's edge about 40 feet above the brink of the fall. The area was fenced off.

One section of the point which had a mature tree growing on it was left standing, but engineers said it would have to be blasted away if it didn't fall of its own weight.

The change resulted in an improved appearance of the falls. Visitors now will be able to get a headon view of the American Falls because of the deep "V" carved in its flank.

It Must Rain Or Tradition Takes Licking

WAYNESBURG, Pa. (U)—A "rain crew" took up a vigil promptly at 12:01 a.m. today to record the slightest precipitation in this southwestern Pennsylvania community of 8,000.

The crew, says Attorney John Daily, will stay on duty at the courthouse steps until midnight tonight—if necessary—to keep faith with Waynesburg's tradition.

The tradition goes back to 1877 when someone, for reasons best known to himself, said it would rain on July 29 and it did.

Since then, according to Daily's statistics, it has failed to rain July 29 on only seven occasions.

For the past few years Daily has wagered a hat with some celebrity that it would rain. He has quite an accumulation of headgear now.

This year's "fall guy" is Bill Corum, sports writer and president of Churchill Downs.

If it does not rain Corum has promised to make Daily an honorary Kentucky colonel.

The Better Vision Institute estimates that most top executives spent 15 to 20 hours a week reading reports, correspondence and trade journals.

REACHING SKYWARD—David Spinney has a bumper corn crop in his Middletown, Ohio, back yard. Given the seeds last Halloween, David planted them early in March with this seven-foot-high result. Despite the excellent results, five-year-old Dave would rather be a pilot than a farmer.

McCarran Says Brownell Fumbling Security Bill

WASHINGTON (U)—Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) said today Atty. Gen. Brownell has injected politics into national security and that this accounts in part for a lack of action on the administration's antislavery bills.

Most if not all of the other major parts of the administration program, leaders of both parties agreed, seem likely to pass in some form.

McCarran also said some of the antislavery measures submitted to Congress by the Justice Department "have been so loosely drawn that they rattle." He is a former chairman of the Senate Judiciary Committee and its Red-hunting Internal Security subcommittee.

Urges Passage

President Eisenhower Wednesday urged passage of the anti-Communist measures before Congress adjourns, listing them along with farm, tax revision, social security, foreign aid and housing measures as major parts of his program.

The President told his news conference he would be more than bitterly disappointed if Congress adjourned without passing them. Later in the day, a housing bill lacking some of the things he asked for cleared Congress.

Sens. Knowland (R-Calif.) and Ferguson (R-Mich.) today predicted passage within the next few days of most of the other bills Eisenhower listed. Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, said this program is "moving along fast." Ferguson, head of the GOP Policy Committee, predicted its completion and adjournment of Congress by Aug. 7.

Increase Debt Limit

The President said also that an increase in the 275-billion-dollar debt limit is a necessity. The House passed a 15-billion-dollar hike last year but the Senate balked, and Sen. Byrd (D-Va.) and others still oppose any increase.

Osteopaths Win Recognition in Court Decision

The Chicago College of Osteopathy has won a long struggle for recognition as a school whose educational standards are basically equal to other recognized colleges training physicians and surgeons for practice in Illinois.

This recognition has come as a result of an opinion in Chicago by the Appellate Court of Illinois First District on July 22.

As a result of the decision, graduates of the Chicago College of Osteopathy can be granted the privilege of writing state board examinations in all fields of medicine. Passing of such examination would grant the Doctor of Osteopathy the privilege of practicing his profession without limitation and on the same basis as any other well-trained physician.

Illinois is the only major state which has not given full recognition to the osteopathic profession. Graduates of the Chicago College and the five other osteopathic schools in the U.S.A. may take state board examinations and practice without limitation in all but a very few states.

The present Turkish republic was started in 1953.

Sarge Bagby, Pitcher, Dies

MARIETTA, Ga. (AP) — Jim (Sarge) Bagby, 65, who helped pitch the Cleveland Indians to the 1920 world championship of baseball, died Wednesday.

Bagby, whose full name was James Charles Jacob Bagby Sr., won 31 games and lost 12 for the Indians in 1920 and in the World Series against Brooklyn became the first pitcher ever to hit a series home run.

The 65-year-old mound star had been in bad health since he suffered a stroke in 1942, while umpiring a game in the Piedmont League. He died at Kennestone Hospital in Marietta, where he had lived for the past several years.

Survivors include a son, Jim Jr., who followed his famous father as a major league pitcher in the 1930s. He now is employed at the Lockheed aircraft plant here.

Cockell Ready For Matthews

SEATTLE (AP) — While their charges ran through light workouts, rival managers for Friday night's Harry Matthews - Don Cockell 10-round heavyweight bout also got in final licks today.

John Simpson of London said, "Cockell will win — and by a knockout."

Jack Hurley, said "Harry will win."

Cockell British Empire champion, has won two decisions over the Seattle kid.

Both managers are hoping the fight will pave the way to a meeting with Rocky Marciano. For Matthews, it would be a return engagement. Marciano kayoed the kid in New York two years ago before he won the heavyweight title.

Church Meeting

Members of the Church of Christ will meet at the Loveland Community building at 8 p.m. Friday to discuss plans for the annual banquet.

Bob Hill, Rock River Ready Mix catcher raised his batting average 29 points over the weekend and zoomed back into first place in the Jaycee-Park Board major league, replacing Dick Rink, National catcher, who dropped to third place.

Hill collected four hits in seven times at bat to give him 21 hits in 33 times at bat, a .636 average.

Murray Grove, National player, moved into the top ten with a total of six hits in ten times at bat for a .600 average.

Rink fell 72 points when he had only two hits in seven times at bat. That dropped him to a .583 average on 21 hits in 36 trips.

Bob Hunter, Home Lumber, moved from fifth to fourth place with two out of three over the weekend for a .478 average, a gain of 26 points. He had 11 hits in 23 times at bat.

Biggest drop was made by Harold Bates, Rotary shortstop, who was limited to two hits in eight times at bat for a drop of 86 points. Bates has 13 hits in 28 times at bat and fell from third to fifth with a .464 average.

His boss, teammate, Rich Mullins, made the biggest gain when he had six for six and gained 44

Rain, Mantle Cool Chicago in 7-5 Test Yesterday

CHICAGO (AP) — The New York Yankees and the Chicago White Sox today close out a three-game series with the horrible realization that so far they've been playing for the benefit of their common foe — Cleveland.

By swapping victories in their first two scraps at Comiskey Park, both the runner-up Yankees and the third-place Sox lost ground to the Indians in the American League pennant race. For Cleveland beat the Boston Red Sox both Tuesday and Wednesday.

The net result is that the Yankees now are 2 1/2 games off the pace and Chicago is 7 games back.

Rain and Mickey Mantle, in that order, cooled the Sox Wednesday as the Yankees posted a 7-5 victory.

FIRST HALF OF DOUBLE PLAY—Minnie Minoso, White Sox outfielder, is out at second in first half of a first inning double play in Chicago as Yanks second baseman Gerry Coleman gets off throw to Bill Skowron on first to complete the play. Action came when Johnny Groth of the White Sox grounded to Yanks shortstop Willie Miranda. Umpire Bill McKinley calls the play. (AP Wirephoto)

Women's Western Open Golf Enters Quarterfinals

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Defending champion Claire Doran was the only Women's Western golf quarter-finalist to draw a parbusting opponent today as the three other favorites lined up against players who were 5, 6 and 7 over par in the second round.

Miss Doran will face scrappy Mary Agness Wall of Menominee, Mich., who equaled the Cleveland school teacher's 1-under performance Wednesday.

Medalist Pat Leser of Seattle and Mickey Wright of LaJolla, Calif., also came through the second round 1 under. Miss Leser takes on Barbara McIntire, the Toledo, Ohio, district champ, who was 5 over, and Miss Wright will play Mrs. Mae Murray Jones of Rutland, Vt., who was 6 over.

In the other quarterfinal, Jane Nelson of Indianapolis, runner-up last year, tees off against blonde Beverly Gannon of St. Paul. Miss Nelson, after grabbing a 3-up lead in four holes Wednesday against Mrs. Marjorie Lindsey McMillen of Decatur, Ill., rode out a 2-and-1 victory one over par.

Miss Gannon had the worst day of any second round winner, going seven over par in beating Meriam Bailey of Palatine Hills, Ill., 4 and 3.

Miss Doran had little trouble in eliminating Mrs. Dorothy Balch, a former Indiana champion, 7 and 5. Miss Leser was one down at the end of nine holes against Vonnice Colby of Hollywood, Fla., but got even with a bogey on No. 10. Birdie 4s on the 12th, 13th and 14th holes gave Miss Leser her eventual 3 and 2 victory.

Miss Wright defeated Virginia Denny of Lake Forest, Ill., 4 and 3.

Mrs. Jones was a 1-up winner of a see-saw match with Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore. Miss Wall defeated Carol Dinger of Tiffin, Ohio, 4 and 3, and Miss McIntire downed Mrs. Nancy Stump of Wheeling, W. Va., 3 and 2.

Babe Ruth Finals

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Chicago Heights and Rock Island play tonight for the championship of the Illinois Babe Ruth baseball tournament and the right to enter regional competition at Kewanee Aug. 5.

Chicago Heights advanced to the finals with a 16-7 victory over Spencer of Chicago Wednesday night. Rock Island defeated Herrin 5-4 in the semi-finals.

The tournament is for boys 15 years of age and under.

Favor Littler

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The veteran pros figure young Gene Littler as the man to beat in the $20,000 Kansas City Open golf tournament beginning on the parched Blue Hills Country Club course today.

Littler, the 1953 National Amateur champion and runnerup in the last U. S. Open, is rated along with Cary Middlecoff and Ed (Dinky) Oliver as best bets.

The field of about 160 will be out Friday to the low 60 pins and tees and the 10 low amateurs.

Advance Grid Season Tickets Now on Sale

Reserved Season Passes Good for Four Home Tests

Reserved seats for four Dixon high school home football games are now on sale at Fulfs and Hank Henry's, Don Barnhart DHS football coach reported today.

The season ticket offer gives football fans a $3 value for $2.50. Barnhart said, and allows fans to have the same seat for the schedule which includes two north Central Illinois conference games and two non-loop tests.

On the home schedule this year are Champaign, Sterling, DeKalb and Princeton.

The Champaign game opens the season for the Dukes, Sept. 17. This will probably be the only appearance Champaign will make at Dixon for some time since the two schools have only a one year contract.

Sterling Here

Sterling will provide the opposition for Dixon on Oct. 1 in the traditional game between a pair of old rivals. This will be the first conference game for the Dukes.

The DeKalb game also will celebrate homecoming. This conference test is set for Oct. 15.

The final home game also will be the final game of the season for the Dukes when they entertain Princeton in a non-league game. Princeton is in the Northwestern division while Dixon is in the Northeastern section of the conference.

Johnson Scores Upset Over Jones

NEW YORK (AP) — George Johnson, the unranked Trenton, N. J., middleweight, scored an upset victory Wednesday night over Bobby Jones, No. 5 in the division.

Although Jones was an 8 to 5 favorite, Johnson won a unanimous decision at Madison Square Garden in a televised bout.

Johnson, 154, to Jones' 157, simply threw too many punches for the Oakland, Calif. veterans of 66 pro bouts.

Johnson's record now is 28-4 and Jones' 37-21-8.

Giants, Brooklyn Win; Braves Nip Bucs; Indians Win

By BEN PHLEGAR (AP Sports Writer)

The Milwaukee Braves are building up steam for a fast sweep along the eastern seaboard which should determine whether there is any substance to the ghost of a chance they still hold in the National league pennant race.

A highly regarded entry during spring training, the Braves floundered through the first half of the season. But they've started to roll in the last two weeks and last night they ran their current winning streak to six games with a 6-4 victory at Pittsburgh.

A getaway game with the Pirates today will be followed by four games in Brooklyn starting tomorrow night, three in Philadelphia and three with the New York Giants.

It would take a virtual sweep to make the Braves' a serious threat. Milwaukee trails the second place Dodgers by 8 games and the Giants by 10. In the past week the Braves have cut their deficit by 5 1/2 lengths.

The New York Giants ended a six game losing streak at the expense of the St. Louis Cardinals 10-0. Philadelphia vaulted into fourth place with a 3-2 victory over Cincinnati. Brooklyn defeated Chicago 3-1.

The Cleveland Indians kept rolling over the Boston Red Sox, 2-1, for the 15th time in 16 decisions. New York beat Chicago 7-5 on Mickey Mantle's three-run homer in the ninth. Joe Coleman pitched a three-hitter as Baltimore trimmed Washington 2-1 and Detroit trounced Philadelphia 10-2.

Aaron Stars

Milwaukee caught up with Pittsburgh after Preston Ward put the Pirates ahead with a two-run homer in the first. Rookie Hank Aaron drove in three runs with a pair of singles and a triple.

Johnny Antonelli handcuffed the Cardinals for his fifth shutout and 15th victory. Jim Rhodes hit three home runs and Willie Mays batted his 36th of the season.

Brooklyn managed only four hits off the combined offerings of Dave Cole and Hal Jeffcoat but they were enough to give Russ Meyer his 15th consecutive victory over his old Chicago club. A Cub threat in the ninth when Ralph Kiner doubled and Hank Sauer singled was snuffed out by Jim Hughes who came in with one out and struck out the next two batters.

Mantle Homers

Early Wynn scattered most of Boston's 11 hits. The Red Sox bunched singles by Bill Consolo, Jim Piersall and Ted Williams for their only run. Cleveland won it in the sixth when Bob Avila singled and scored on Al Rosen's double. Vic Fertz singled home Rosen. The Indians managed only two other hits off rookie Russ Kemmerer.

Mantle's homer in Chicago came with Irv Noren and Joe Collins on base in the ninth after the game had been held up 68 minutes by rain. The Yankees trailed 5-1 after seven innings but picked up three in the eighth.

Steve Souchock drove in six runs with two homers in Detroit's one-sided triumph over the Athletics.

There is an old saying that "It never rains on a golf course." It may have rained all around Plum Hollow last night, but 23 golfers managed to get in nine holes without getting "too wet" at the regular men's night session.

Ned Sack set the pace with a 35 while Fred Menke jr. had a 38 and Mars Calder fired a 39 to be the only golfers shooting under 40.

Blind bogey winners were: Ned Sack, Lou Jones, Paul Nussbaum, Frank Lessner, Clayton Kesselring, Bernie Wheeler, Larry Coppetelli, Mars Calder, Robert Kratt and Rae Arnold.

WHAT'S THE SCORE

By Normi Follow

THE OGLE COUNTY SMALL FRY LEAGUE, which got underway two weeks ago, will complete this season's schedule next Friday and then swing into a single elimination tournament the following week.

The season this year was short because of the late start. Each team is scheduled to play the other members of the league twice.

INTEREST IN THE LEAGUE, however, has been encouraging and it is reported that Polo and Leaf River are interested in joining. Next year, a six-team league will probably be formed to let in these towns.

Thus, baseball is getting a new shot in the arm around here and programs for youngsters are causing it. The Small Fry league is for boys, 9-12 years of age.

THE 1954 HUNTING SEASON will open Sunday, August 1, when it will be legal to take grey and fox squirrel in the southern zone of Illinois. Director Glen D. Palmer of the State Department of Conservation reminded hunters today.

Squirrel hunting will begin on Sept. 1 in the central zone, and Sept. 15 in the northern zone.

THE SOUTHERN ZONE SEASON will run until Oct. 15, while seasons in the other two zones will end on Oct. 31.

Daily bag limit on squirrels is five and possession limit after first day of hunting is ten.

Other hunting seasons for Illinois include:

DOVE—Sept. 1 through Oct. 5. Bag and possession limit is eight birds.

QUAIL—Nov. 11 through Dec. 11. Bag limit is 10 and possession limit after first day is 20.

PHEASANT—Nov. 11 through Nov. 25. Daily bag limit is two cock pheasants, with possession limit of four.

RABBITS—Nov. 11 through Jan. 15. Daily bag limit is five, with possession limit after opening day of ten.

RACCOON—Nov. 15 through Jan. 15. No limit daily, or possession.

Dates for migratory waterfowl hunting will be announced by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service sometime in August.

Rickey Has Mathematical Formula for Flag Winning

NEW YORK (AP) — Branch Rickey, 70-year-old general manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates, has reduced pennant winning baseball to a mathematical formula.

"The formula is so revealing and unrefutable," he says in a story in Life magazine. "that it has compelled me to put different values on some of my oldest and cherished memories."

May Settle on Rocky-Charles Match Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Rocky Marciano is in town today for a physical exam and a conference that probably will result in a Sept. 16 Yankee Stadium rematch with ex-champ Ezzard Charles.

The heavyweight champion has been vacationing at Cape Cod and Grossinger, N. Y., since he won a unanimous decision over Charles in a rousing 15-round bout at the Stadium, June 17.

After that battle, Dr. Vincent Nardiello operated on Marciano's eye, removing old scar tissue. He has been out again early in the Charles bout and bled throughout the contest.

Rocky still wears a slight scar over the eye as the result of that operation but believes he will be ready to start boxing in a week or 10 days.

"I'd like to fight again this year," he said Wednesday. "The long layoff (nine months) was too much. I need more fights."

Mays 11 Ahead

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball fans and National League pitchers are beginning to take Willie Mays' threat to Babe Ruth's home run record more seriously.

With 55 games remaining on the New York Giants' schedule, Mays' today stands 11 games ahead of the Bambino's 1927 pace.

Willie connected for his 36th home run Wednesday in his team's 9th game. When Ruth hit 60 he did not produce No. 36 until his 110th game.

Los Angeles Comments on Faceless Art

LOS ANGELES (U)—Art is a pretty dangerous word around City Hall these days. Mention it in the hearing of a councilman and he'll most likely flip his lid.

The reason is a 14-foot bronze statue of an American family without faces and practically without curves.

Bernard Rosenthal, who sculpts with a welding torch, is supposed to get $10,000 for it. Councilmen, as ex-officio critics, decided Wednesday they would try to break this contract.

Rosenthal designed the statue for the new police building. A modern concept, it symbolizes the family under the protective wing of the cop. Councilmen got a gander at his model in the past few days.

A few of their criticisms: Ernest E. Debs: "No eyes, no nose, no ears. Whoever designed this must have a low opinion of the American family."

Don A. Allen: "Maybe we'll have another metal salvage drive."

Council President John Gibson: "Let's give it to the California Taxpayers Assn."

Councilman Edward Roybal, a voice in the wilderness: "There are persons in the city qualified to pass on art. If you want to pay $10,000 of the taxpayers' money and junk the statue just because you don't like it, I won't go along with you."

Councilman John Holland called it a "sexless, raceless, faceless group."

Councilman Harold Harby: "A deepsea fisherman should use it for a sinker and cut the string."

Sculptor Rosenthal doesn't object to "an honest opinion," but he resents the "bad manners" of some people "who should know better."

He says he purposely omitted the faces of the figures "so they cannot be construed as belonging to any definite race or creed in preference to another."

Anti-Red Legislation Has Rocky Road Ahead

Congress Has Yet to Act On Brownell's Requests

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the time left before Congress quits for the year — the target date is Aug. 7 — it seems certain very little, if any, anti-Communist legislation can get through.

President Eisenhower says he will be more than bitterly disappointed if his administration's domestic anti-Communist proposals don't pass. Some of his lieutenants, inside and outside Congress, express hope they will.

But Congress has not passed a single one of the major requests made by the President or Atty. Gen. Brownell for new laws to curb the Communists.

House Acts
The House has passed six pieces of anti-Communist legislation, the Senate only one. The latter is not the same as any of the six passed by the House. Not one bill has been approved by both.

Almost all the anti-Communist legislation has been handled by two committees of Congress: The House and Senate Judiciary Committees. To see the handicaps ahead, look at the usual procedure before a bill can become law:

Taking the House as a starter, first the committee's subcommittee must approve, then the full committee. Then the full House must give its okay.

On the Senate side, the committee's subcommittee must approve, then the full committee, then the full Senate.

But — the full committee in House or Senate may never get around to acting on what its subcommittee-blessed. And even if the full committee also approves and sends a bill up for a floor vote, the measure may never get called up for consideration.

Must Compromise
But even when House and Senate finally approve similar bills there can't be any new law if there are differences between those bills. The two houses must then iron out the differences and approve the compromise.

This is where the anti-Communist legislation stands.

The only bill passed by the Senate — it was in 1953 — was one to give a witness immunity from federal prosecution in return for testimony he could otherwise refuse to give under the constitutional guarantee against forced self-incrimination. This is still in the hands of the House Judiciary Committee.

Here are the six bills passed by the House, with their present situation in the Senate:

1. The death penalty for peacetime spying. The Senate Judiciary Committee approved it with changes and it now awaits full Senate action.
2. A heavier penalty for harboring fugitives, such as the four Communist leaders who jumped bond after their conviction several years ago. Still not approved by the Senate committee.
3. Compulsory registration of spies and saboteurs. Approved by the Senate committee and awaiting full Senate action.
4. Taking away the citizenship of anyone convicted of advocating overthrow of the government by force. The Senate committee has not acted.
5. Permitting the government to use wiretap information in court trials. The Senate subcommittee has approved with changes, but there has been no action by the full committee.
6. Requiring Communist and Communist-front organization to list all their printing equipment with the government. No Senate committee action.

In addition, here is proposed legislation wrecked or boxed up:

Hits Unions
He also proposed that any organization, including a business or labor union, which is Communist-infiltrated must register with the government and dissolve.

The Senate committee approved both proposals but the House committee just about murdered both by suggesting, as a substitute idea, that an 18-man commission be appointed to study both problems and report back to Congress next year.

The one administration proposal which got the most attention — wiretapping — probably has no chance at all.

Toll Roads No Bargain, He Claims

BLOOMINGTON, Ill. (AP) — A downstate highway superintendent says outside of Cook County toll roads will be no bargains for Illinois taxpayers.

P. J. Keller of McLean County said only Cook County, with its heavy local traffic, will benefit from toll roads.

Speaking before the Bloomington Exchange Club Wednesday,

Keller said one cent a mile is the usual charge on turnpikes now in operation in other parts of the country.

"The average car," he said, "travels 16 miles to a gallon of gasoline, which makes the toll charge equivalent to 16 cents a gallon."

"Give an honest and efficient state highway department a gas tax of 10 cents a gallon, and it will build all the 4-lane roads you want."

The Illinois gasoline tax is 5 cents a gallon.

Gov. William G. Stratton in May announced plans for an extensive network of pay-as-you-go roads in Illinois.

Woman Shoots Horse, Then Ends Own Life

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Trudy Tollen went horseback riding in scenic Fairmount Park Wednesday. The 31-year-old woman and her horse, "Bebe," were a familiar sight on the park bridge paths for the past several years.

A short while later a mounted park policeman came across a bizarre scene in a secluded wooded glen.

The woman and her mount lay side by side. Both had been shot through the head with a .22 caliber rifle which was rigged to a nearby tree branch. The horse's head was covered with a blue denim shirt.

Police said the woman apparently shot the horse and then took her own life.

In her hand were five playing cards — a pair of aces and three eights, a full house in poker and a combination close to the traditional "dead man's hand" of the same game, two aces and two eights.

Carved on the wooden stock of the death rifle was this inscription: "Speak not in anger. In mercy, whisper: in vengeance, sing."

Sgt. Edward McCann, the park guard who found the two said he also discovered a note tied to the trunk of the tree.

Addressed to her brother Arthur, in New York, it said Miss Tollen planned to take her own life for 10 years and expressed regret for "any inconvenience."

Friends described Miss Tollen as "moody." Her father, with whom she lived, said his daughter was depressed recently because she was unable to find employment.

Phillipp Saur Relaxes With His Family After 37 Years as Oregon Mail Carrier

OREGON—(Special)—Phillipp V. Saur, 66, 408 S. Ninth st., is enjoying retirement after carrying tons of mail on city mail route two for the past 37 years.

In recent years, Saur estimates, he filled his mail pouch about 25 times a day. A full pouch weighs about 25 pounds, and that would make a total of about 412,500 pounds or 20 tons of mail each year.

But effective July 16 Saur hung up his mail pouch for the last time, and since then he and Mrs. Saur have spent their time enjoying their family. They have nine children, 11 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. Their children are living in various cities across the country, but enough of them live in or near Oregon to insure frequent visits.

Son Next Door

One son, Harry, lives next door, and his son, Phillip (Ricky), divides his time between the two homes. This week two granddaughters, Pamela and Dawn Saur, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Saur, Rockford, were visiting their grandparents.

The time since Saur's retirement began has been filled with family celebrations. Saur's birthday was July 22. The couple observed their 45th wedding anniversary July 23, and Mrs. Saur's birthday was Tuesday.

Saur recalls a number of incidents which show that he was a friend as well as mailman for the Oregon residents on his route. Many of the happenings concerned elderly persons living alone.

Tended Fires

He said he often tended fires, brought drinks of water, and saw to the comfort of bedridden persons on the route. He also recalled finding a small boy near an embankment at Oregon Grade School. The boy had been skating, but fell and sprained his ankle. Saur lifted the boy and his mail sack, and saw him safely home.

But perhaps the most vivid memory is that of bad weather. One of the most difficult times for a letter carrier is plowing through deep snow for miles on a bitter winter day. Saur said, "At times, I think I only went ahead six inches for each step I took. The snow was up to my knees."

He said there were times when the snow was so deep two hours were needed to cover one mile. Saur began carrying mail Feb. 2, 1917, when city mail delivery began in Oregon. During the following years, he saw the city of Oregon grow until he served 414 houses on his route. He retired due to ill health.

RELAXING AFTER 37 YEARS as an Oregon letter carrier is Phillip V. Saur. Mrs. Saur holds the couple's grandson, Ricky, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Saur, Oregon. Seated at left is Pamela Saur, and standing is Dawn Saur, both granddaughters. Their parents are Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Saur, Rockford.

Author Has One Day to Beat Death

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (P)—Convict-author Cary Chessman has only one day left to outsmart the executioner. He has done it before and hopes to do it again.

The 32-year-old convicted rapist and kidnaper said he will appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court today. He is scheduled to die in the San Quentin Prison gas chamber at 10 a.m. Friday.

For six years Chessman's legal maneuvers have saved him from execution.

On May 22, 1948 he was convicted in Los Angeles of eight counts of robbery, four of kidnapping, two counts of sex perversion on victims, one count of attempted robbery, one of attempted criminal assault and one of auto theft.

Chessman, acting as his own attorney told the jury: "I never molested any woman. Either acquit me of these charges or give me the death sentence." Chessman has made his own funeral arrangements and rewritten his will disposing of estimated $20,000 proceeds from his book, "Cell 2455, Death Row." He set up trust funds for three children of people who had befriended him, but refused to make their names public.

Driving Ends

NORMAN, Okla. (P)—Patrolman Neal Grover noticed a teenager driving down the street reading a comic book which lay on the steering wheel.

The boy stopped at the city's busiest intersection for a red light, then made a left turn on green with hardly a glance up from his book. Grover took the youth into Municipal Court.

The judge, fining him $5, told him to do his reading in the back seat.

Nine-Year-Old Operates Used Bicycle Racket

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (P)—Waukegan police have broken up a bicycle sales racket they said was operated by a 9-year-old sharpie.

Walter Riley, juvenile officer, said it worked like this:

The boy would offer to buy another boy's bicycle, and present a note supposedly signed by the owner's mother giving permission to sell "because he is getting another one." The buyer then would sell at a profit to gas station attendants.

Riley said the boy told of selling 11 bicycles until a suspicious station attendant proved his undoing. He was released to parental custody without formal charges.

Ike Throws Hat Into Texas Ring

WASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower appears to have invited a test of his political popularity in Texas that could reverberate in the fall campaign for control of Congress.

The President's unusual action Wednesday in endorsing Gov. Allan Shivers, Texas Democrat who is bidding for a renomination that is normally equivalent to reelection, may make Shivers' connection with the President one of the chief issues in an Aug. 26 runoff primary.

Disagree on Effort Texas Democrats in Washington who asked not to be named disagreed about the possible effect of Eisenhower's news conference statement that Shivers has made a good governor.

Some thought it might rebound to the benefit of Ralph Yarborough of Austin. Yarborough ran 23,852 votes behind Shivers in the first primary last Saturday. Because of votes for other candidates, neither major rival polled a majority, so a runoff is necessary.

Other Texans said they believe Eisenhower is just as popular in their state as he was when he carried it by 133,000 votes in 1952 and that his public praise will help Shivers.

Under Fire

Shivers who backed Eisenhower in the 1952 presidential race and has maintained close relations with the President, has been under fire in Texas in connection with a personal land deal and an investigation of insurance companies.

Texas generally said these matters—plus the action of former Vice President John Garner in criticizing a third elective term bid—may have been more compelling than any issue of party regularity in Shivers' slide from the 2-1 vote margin he rolled up over Yarborough in 1952. Yarborough had support this year of most Democrats who call themselves liberals.

He'll Excavate 50,000 Yards of Earth for Penny

MINEOLA, N.Y. (P)—Al Davis has himself a contract — for one cent he's going to excavate 50,000 yards of earth to form a sump — a huge hole in the ground where runoff water is collected and returned to the soil.

The Nassau County Board of Supervisors, which had asked bids on the excavation at nearby Levittown, had been ready to go as high as $25,000.

Naturally, the board was delighted by Davis' penny bid but asked "how come?"

Replied Davis: "Where else can a guy get 50,000 yards of high grade soil, sand and gravel for a penny?"

The American buffalo (bison), often thought of as western animals, once ranged as far east as the Carolinas.
